

DON'T BE CAUGHT OFF GUARD BY A CANADA POST WORK STOPPAGE

A labour dispute at Canada Post may eventually trigger a work stoppage. The dispute would disrupt mail delivery across Canada.

Here are a few alternative solutions to limit the impact of the current situation on your financial transactions, and on the reception of information that is mailed to you related to your portfolio and securities.

Please note that even if a work stoppage occurs, you are still required to complete your payments and other elements related to your financial activities according to their due date.
